Chandelier 1655-5 "Corn Cob"

The Russian Empire Family

With its long and elegant shape this chandelier represents one of the milestones of our range of Russian Empire chandeliers.

The frame from brass is carefully finished with gold and bears very detailed decors imprinted by hand.

The crystal is lead-free and hand-polished for exclusive brilliance.

A special feature of this item is the name-giving corn-cob and leaf elements in the central column. This is picked up to design the crown of the chandelier where the corn feature is used to create a feather-like crown on top which lovely borders the chandelier from the ceiling.
