Chandelier 6693-9

The French Baroque Family

The typical French baroque chandelier is composed of a bronze cage decorated with elaborate pendulums from either rock crystal or plain lead crystal.

In our workshops we use brass as the material of choice which is finely gilded using a traditional chemical technique we alone keep in practice.

For the crystal we take great care to choose the right proportions for the specific sizes not to overdo the decoration or to use too small crystal in the specific positions.

So we keep true to the aesthetic ideals of this grand period.
