Drinking set no.98 with simple facette cut

The series, designed by Ludwig Lobmeyr around 1870, is one of the most important sets of the Viennese Historism („Gründerzeit“). Even the Royal family – the Habsburgs - used it for unofficial everyday meals.

This redesign with a simple cut gives the set good modern freshness and simplicity emphasizing the detail of the craftsman’s work. It needs 5 steps and more than 20 different wheels for cutting and polishing each facet.

The brilliance of rock crystal is model and can only be achieved by hand cutting and polishing of lead-free crystal.
