

DOGS – PUG

Handpainted

Design: Luise Terletzki-Scherf, 1929

height 11 cm · product no. 01.437

There is one design that particularly stands out from among the numerous dog figurines created at Nymphenburg over the last 200 years, namely, Luise Terletzki-Scherf's pug. Barely eleven centimetres tall, he holds the observer with his cocked head, which was not, as with other dog sculptures, achieved using the underglazing technique. This charming four-legged friend is the only one to feature overglaze painting, applied freehand using paintbrushes in the Manufactory's master workshops, as with other kinds of figurines.
