“Innovation occurs when something special is put in an unusual light,” believes Konstantin Grcic. Using this as his inspiration, the Munich-born industrial designer created a series of salt and sugar shakers for the manufactory in 1999, in the shape of the historical insulators. The standout piece of the ensemble is this twelve centimetre tall sugar shaker. As with its brothers and sisters in the series, a fine hand-painted line in tender pink emphasises the unusual contour of this table piece.
